

ALICE'S KIDS

JANUARY 2023

WASHINGTON POST FEATURES ALICE'S KIDS

On January 1, Washington Post columnist Theresa Vargas wrote a nice piece about our work. See the article at this link. The piece generated a lot of national attention and a number of new donors!

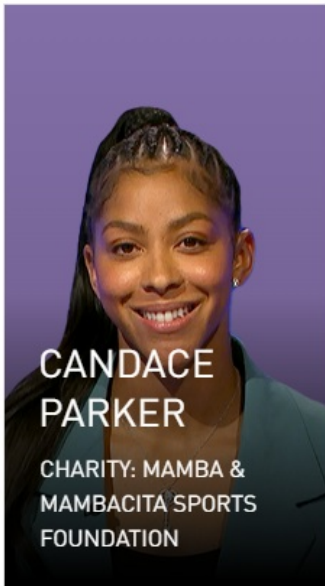

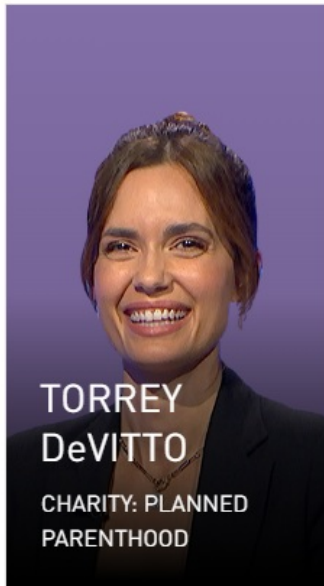

YEAR-END NUMBERS

Our unofficial reports show that we spent $750,000 on children across the nation in 2022. That amount is about $200,000 more than we spent in 2021. And this year our target is a whopping $1 million! Fortunately, despite the state of the economy, we raised approximately $800,000 in 2022. Thanks to all of our supporters for making our growth possible. We look forward to helping many more kids this year.

PATTON OSWALT DOES CELEBRITY JEOPARDY FOR ALICE'S KIDS

On January 12, Grammy Award-winning comedian Patton Oswalt will be on Celebrity Jeopardy on ABC and he is dedicating his winnings to Alice's Kids! Here's the info:

A SAMPLE REQUEST THAT WE FULFILLED IN DECEMBER

"In February, Genesis will compete in the Oregon Battle of the Books. She has read 6 of the 16 books already but the remaining books are not in the county & school libraries! Mom would like to order her those books on Amazon but they're about $5 each and she just can't afford them."

IF YOU ARE A NEW DONOR

First of all, thanks for your support! You will automatically receive these newsletters at the beginning of every month. Of course, you are free to unsubscribe if you wish. Then, understand that we will not be asking you for any more donations until our Annual Appeal, which is in early November. We make this pledge because we do not want to become a perpetual fundraising machine that takes us away from our mission. Again, thanks for your support and welcome to our family!
